

I think the N.J. Do Not Call List is one of the best things that has happened in the state in a long time. How would you feel if your telephone rang almost 20 times a day just from telemarketing alone?

Some people do work the night shift and sleep during the day and others are mothers home with young children who are taking naps, being given baths, being fed dinner, etc. Nobody has the time to sit and discuss mortgage rates, credit card options, or decide whether to give to your charity. If I want, I will call you. That means I am interested and in need of your services. I'm sure none of you at home would be willing to discuss these things on a regular basis after a long day. Perhaps we should keep your households on calling lists. I wonder how many F.C.C. employees live in N.J. and are on the list? Not many, I'm betting. You suck and stay out of our lives.
